Ardbeg Uigeadail - Pronounce: Oe-ga-dal. One of the three working distilleries in the south of the island Islay. The name comes from the lake were the distillerie fetch the water for the whisky.

Balvenie Double Wood (12) - Balvenie was founded in 1889 by William Grant. The whisky ripes for 10 years on oak bourbon barrels and after that on former sherry barrels. Rich, complex & velvet.

Bunnahabhain (12) - Pronounce: Boe-nah-Havn. Called the softest whisky of the Islay-style products. Hints of flowers and fruit.

Caol Ila (12) - Fans of Ardbeg, Laphroaig and Lagavulin probably love Caol Ila too. Herbal hints and the typical peaty taste of Islay malts.

Dalwhinnie (15) - Classic Highland malt. People who love cognac might love this whisky too. Are you ready for an adventure?

Glennfiddich (12) - The worlds most popular single malt. Sold in over 180 countries. Is the only Highland whisky distilled, riped and bottled in the same distillerie. Fresh and fruity nose with hints of pear. Taste: fruit, wood and a little bit of peat.

Glenmorangie (10) - Great whisky. Rewarded all over the world. Very floral and fruity single malt. Complex whisky with great charmes and finesse.

Lagavullin (16) - From Islay. Well balanced and praised by the experts. Has everything inside in the right proportions: iodine, seaweed, smokey taste, salty hints and something sweet. Medical tones.

Laphroaig (10) - Pronounce: La-frooi-K. From Islay. Wild aroma's: peat, seaweed and medicale iodine. Taste: smoke, earth, salt and hints of sea air. Bit of sweet in the finish. Raw and adventurous.

Oban (14 years) - Single malt from Highland. One of the smallest distelleries in Scotland. Porperty sold for many times. Nose: Orange, lime, sea salt, peat. Taste: Dried figs, honey, autumn fruit. Sweet finish.

The Glenlivet (12) - Classic from Speyside, near the river The Livet. Often discribed as 'The Single Malt That Started It All'. Nose of tropical fruits and fresh summer flowers. Taste: soft and a hint of vanilla.

The Macallan (12) - Produced in Speyside. Part of the Fine Oak serie. Light footed. Fresh notes of vanilla, citrus and cocos. Nose of fruits and honey. Matured at bourbon barrels and sherry barrels.

The Macallan Sienna - Watch that colour! The sherry barrels give this whisky his character. Perfect after dinner drink. Taste the figs, dates, raisins, ginger, nutmeg and some range, apple and vanilla.

DUTCH SINGLE MALT

9

This single malt whisky is made in the province of Friesland in the northern part of The Netherlands. It has a kind of sweet character and a very gentle taste for a 3 year old whisky. You will taste the riping on sherry barrels, wine barrels and cognac barrels. Take a close look at the beautiful bottle with horse head: the Frysk Hynder.
